This transfer of property does not require a sales disclosure statement because:

It is a security interest document such as a mortgage or a trust deed.

It is a lease for less than 90 years.

It is an agreement or other document for a merger, consolidation, and/or incorporation involving solely non-listed stock.

It is a quitclaim deed not serving as a source of title.

It is a transfer for no consideration or a gift.

It is a document being rerecorded to correct a prior recorded document.

It is an affidavit.

Under penalties of perjury, the undersigned hereby certifies that to the best of his/her knowledge and belief this document does not require a Sales Disclosure form for the above marked reason.
